The SEC Pathfinder Department collects and processes information on all people who attend our events. This information is collected on the basis of consent and is used for the essential purposes of running the event, which may include: sending reminders, recording attendance, confirming the payment of fees, ensuring safeguarding, and providing additional services, including pastoral support. Personal information collected for a specific event will be retained for up to two years and may be used to promote future events.

Individuals have the right to ask to see any information held about them by the SEC Pathfinder department by submitting a 'Subject Access Request' to the secretary. They have the right to ask for information which they believe to be incorrect to be rectified, and, in some circumstances to have all of their information removed.

To improve the services offered, the SEC Pathfinder department may share personal data with third parties, but only within the Seventh-day Adventist Church system.

I agree to support all activities and to respect the philosophy of the Seventh-day Adventist Church whilst attending this event.

My response:

☐ I agree to the statements above, have read the code of conduct and consent appropriately. (Code of Conduct Page Below)

☐ I do not agree to the statements above or the code of conduct and do not give my permission (note that we will not be able to process your application if you choose this option).

SEC Camporee Code of Conduct

Basic expectations

- We are guests at Woodhouse Adventurer Park. Participants must obey all regulations and rules as directed by the site director and staff.
- Relations between participants, those working or providing services at the camp and those living in the immediate vicinity of the camp are based on mutual respect for each person, with mutual understanding, courtesy, tact, civility and tolerance.
- Participants are expected to act and use the services provided by the camp for the full duration of the event in compliance with the general norms of British laws and customs with positive behaviour and Christian values, without disturbing their peers.
- Participants represent the Seventh-day Adventist Church at all times whilst at the Camporee and abide by the Camporee regulations as instructed by the Camporee Director and the Volunteer Staff, including any activities organised outside the camp.
- The Adventurer/Pathfinder uniform should be worn for the opening programme and on Sabbath. At other meeting times we would ask for the scarf to be worn. Sensible and modest attire should be worn at all other times.

Participants' rules, prohibited activities

- Participants are expected to attend worship periods unless engaged in official Camporee duties.
- Participants must respect fire and accident prevention rules, safety rules and participate in common or optional activities without disturbing others.
- The participant is responsible for the cleanliness/tidiness of the camp. The participant must immediately report any dangerous/broken camp equipment to the camp staff. In the absence of the above, to the camp director.
- In the event of fire, the participant must immediately inform the organisers, and then immediately - in order to protect his/her life and physical safety - go to the designated meeting point. Once there, the participant must act in accordance with the instructions of the camp leader or his/her staff.
- All accidents/incidents must be reported to Camp staff/Camp office.
- During the event and personal or shared equipment (e.g. furniture, bedding, pillows, audio-visual equipment, sports equipment etc.) must be treated with care and respect and may only be used with permission and for the purpose for which it is intended.
- The participant is strictly prohibited from smoking, alcohol and all drug consumption during the camping period, both inside and outside the camp.
- Participants must not enter the tents of the opposite gender. Boys are not allowed in girls' tents and girls are not allowed in boys' tents.
- All Adventurers/Pathfinders must follow the night-time code. At 22.30 everyone must be in their own encampments and at 23:00 there must be silence in all encampments.
- The participant may not leave the camp without the permission of the camp organisers or their camp leader.
- Participants must act responsibly, with due care and attention & follow all instructions when working with tools or building structures

Violation of any of the rules of conduct may, depending on the severity, result in the camper being held liable. As a consequence, the camper may be sent home from camp. In the event of expulsion, the parent is responsible for the camper's transportation home at his/her own expense. A camper who deliberately and seriously violates the rules may be excluded from camp for several years or permanently.
